Liz

It's time I accept I might never get away. Moving half way across the country didn't work. Getting him thrown in prison didn't either. Rick isn't the kind of guy who is going to let me escape. Forget what I saw reflected in Bryan's eyes...turns out all of that was a lie. It's better to keep my head down, make it through my birthday, and learn to accept this is the person I really am. Elizabeth, Beth, Lizzie, Liz--forget the name. When it comes right down to it, I'm still the same scarred, drug-dealing prostitute. Better to accept it, forget about Bryan, and survive.

Bryan

How could I have let her get away? By not coming to terms with my past and who I am, I might've just lost out on one of the most amazing women I've ever known. This was never the way I wanted her to learn about what happened, to hear about who I was as "The Blizzard." I've changed...I'm just not sure how yet. If she'd only let me explain! There must be some way I can get her to understand, but until then, I'll do whatever it takes to keep her safe, even if she keeps me at a distance. With Noah and Rick hanging around, that might be easier said than done...

Hang on tight...this book contains adult language, adult situations, and violence!

Editorial Review

From the Author

Behind the scenes with Adele Huxley!

No spoilers here!

Just as I discussed in the behind the scenes of Caught by the Blizzard, I wanted to challenge what readers think of the main characters. Do we, as readers, always have to like the protagonists? Aren't some of the most interesting characters in movies and books the ones we kind of hate? For me, and I know for a lot of you out there, Liz certainly checks those boxes!

And then there's Bryan...who can't love Bryan??

A note about the structure

I've become a big fan of the two-book series. Readers can pick up the first book risk free, explore a new genre or author. Then hopefully they're happy to support the author by buying the conclusion. As an author, I want to make it as easy as possible for you to dive into a new book!

I'd love to know what you think this series, the structure, plot, anything really! Thanks for taking a look!

About the Author

Adele Huxley has packed a lot into her 30 years on Earth. She's been a cake decorator, professional barista, and hand model. She's lived in New Zealand, England, Tanzania, and all over the United States. Through it all, she has always been a writer. With a BA in Creative Writing, she couldn't think of anything else she'd rather be. Adele may not stick to any one genre, but her books will always have dynamic characters and enthralling plots. Each story is different and unique, taking elements from romance, suspense, and her real life experiences. Her readers are hard to please, educated, and she wouldn't want it any other way! She now lives in New York City with her husband. She loves traveling, knitting, tequila, coffee, skiing, and her three cats, Penny, George, and Rosie. Don't hesitate to get in touch!
